

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A portable terminal is provided which enables people around the operator of the portable terminal (people whom the camera of the portable terminal is pointing toward) to judge whether the operator has changed it to camera mode, or is merely operating it. When it is detected that the portable terminal has been changed to the camera mode for capturing images using an image-capturing section, an announcement sound is output by using a speaker for announcing incoming-calls, or an ear speaker.